Gratitude

I appreciate in the first place God who gave me the gift of learning. To my parents who gave me life and made me a responsible person, capable of Independent. To my dearest teachers of yesterday and today, who have stimulated to give the best of me every day, to surpass me personally and professionally and be a good student for them. I appreciate of course to all my friend and tutors that always they are with me and never g, they always stay in the good and the bad moment.(91)

Summary

This monograph talks about the economy based on baseball, I try to explain or affirm with fact how much the economy influences baseball or what economic power baseball has not only in the United States but in the world, there are also statistics of everything you have What to do with the economy. The chapters can and do have a lot of diversity of information all based on baseball and its economy, the data is very specific and everyone investigated with a purpose can also see and it shows that not only countries with more money can develop well in baseball if Not that countries whose economic states are not so good are also thriving.

You can also find information on the history of Ecuador of the Ecuadorian baseball player who has come farther and some more interesting facts about Ecuador, there is a little talk about what implies that baseball is the only way out of poverty and how certain countries take this as an example that you can keep from just playing baseball and not only by playing in the MLB but in several countries you can keep up with the salary you earn for playing baseball.

This monograph also talks about how first world countries take baseball or what difference there is in the development of baseball in low-income countries against first world countries, you can see statistical data as well as see how much a baseball costs On average, MLB players and how they assimilate these players also talk a little about the migration that exists from Venezuelans and why it is and what consequences this has based on the issue of the economy of the country and the baseball. The only problem is the less space or time to do this monograph and to explain more this topic. (303)

Introduction

The importance of this topic "How to influence the economy of countries in the progress of baseball in certain countries?" is the with this you can make and perfect evaluation of who the baseball is alive the only problem is if you have other vision you can't understand this monograph but this topic is too important because the baseball is an sport that have much money in trade and for this can lift up some players that the baseball is the only way for to leave behind the poorness and can help a people with their problems for something funny.

The main conclusion of this monograph work is the people know more about this sport because this sport it's an amazing and funny. My dream is that all people knows more of this beautiful sport, the big problem of the baseball is so difficult to understand and if you don't understand the baseball can be so boring and I want to all persons understand that the baseball is not only one sport it's a life for all the player another thing that I want to the people start to think is the baseball can progress with or without money don't depend of money.

My monography is based in some of to much certificated information of internet but the book who gave me the inspiration to do this monography is one that I love because it is the only book that is based in baseball of Ecuador. The name of the book is "Jonron". The author is Frank Maridueña I know this person is friend of my that and it's a great person and a great author. I know that the name of the book its strange because the correct form to write is homerun that is a part of baseball.

The spatial moment that I write my monography is critical for baseball because you can understand in Ecuador the baseball its in fall because baseball in Ecuador never exploded, not like other countries like Venezuela, Brazil, Colombia, etc. In Latin America another country that is in progress to explode all the players is Argentina but Ecuador can't do this the baseball in Ecuador is in decline, this moment is a really bad moment for Ecuador in politic and for this the baseball is affected and in the world the baseball is in normal circumstances like other years the unique difference is the money that was inverted in Mlb.

My monography is divided in three part for the begging the chapter one that talk about the progress of the countries of baseball also in base of the economy, the second part is the chapter two obviously I write about the baseball at countries at second world and finally the third chapter talks about the baseball is a beautiful sport and in what can help you with all of these chapters I am trying to explain the people what is the baseball and knows more of these beautiful sport.

Chapter I

Global Baseball

1.1 Progress of the countries at base to the economy

Juliana Hotfield said: "Baseball is more than a game. Its like life played on the field".

With this quote I want to get started my monograph. In this game the money it's an important thing because without money you can't pay all the process that one player needs. The economy in some countries don't have enough money for sustain all the cost for make a good camp of baseball this camp is too important thing for the progress of the baseball in this country. The major league baseball is the most important company in the world of baseball. This company manage too much money.

In the world of baseball exist more than one league, but the two most important leagues are the MLB (Major League Baseball) this league is the most important in the world, tis league is played in United State the second most important is the NPB (Nippon Professional Baseball) that is played in japan really in this two leagues is in play too much money not only for the teams also for the people who bet, this people puts their economy in prove for theirs bets.

Ted William said once a time "Baseball is the only field or company in which a man who triumphs three out of ten times is considered a good element" this quote explains the difficulty of play and the difficult for understood the hard of the baseball, and not in all countries plays baseball for some people the baseball is boring. I understood this people because this person's things that baseball are boring because they don't know or don't understand who to play baseball.

In the second world countries don't exist a big league because this country doesn't have the money to put or to organize good leagues. Ecuador is a third world country and for this we don't have a big league. But in the past to Ecuador come good players ''Its good to notice that high level players arrived at the Ecuador, especially in the 1960s to the 1980s'' (Maridueña, 2009, p. 9). In Ecuador exist good talents and good prospects but we don't know who to develop.

In the last 5 years the FEB (Ecuadorian Federation of Baseball) was in decline for the bad administration and the changes that make too bad for baseball, but we still have a hope, the new president has to be better than the last president. In the last 2 years the National team of Ecuador don't play an international tournament that for the progress to the new prospects.

In other countries the economy is the cause for the good or the bad moment of the baseball, the lack of money in some cases help the develop of the baseball like in Venezuela, the people of this country thinks that the baseball it's their only escape from the bad economy but this situation has a bad sides because some people take the decision to migrate to other countries one of their destinations is Ecuador, in early June Ecuador receive 350 000 Venezuelan.

Baseball is a sport that needs the money to survive and for this the MLB is the second league that makes the most money in the world and in the United States this sport is one of the most popular.

The first is the NFL (National football league). The MLB wins 9.5 billion last year ''For easy reasons to understand the MLB are very rich in statistics'' (Maridueña,2009, p.9).

and this is for what the MLB is the best league in the world. The league of Ecuador has to be better and more organized.

The most important thing in the baseball is the ball because if you don't have a ball of baseball you can't play. The professional ball have a cost of 5 dollar per one and when you play a game of baseball you almost need too many of this because when is your turn to bat in this you can give foul balls and in mlb when the ball it's out the field after are hitting for one player the umpire change the ball for one new and this process is in all the game. The average of the major league baseball game is 28.5 balls of course this depend the game.

Maridueña (2009) in their the history of home run book said:

The ball is beautiful between the fingers. Is a challenge that the pitcher... don't be scared when the hitter is in front... The ball is the queen of the game but its unpredictable and capricious. When the ball hit with the bat and make a home run its a party, it's a combination of feelings, its unaccountable and ephemeral. (p.11)

If the game extent to extra innings they have to use more ball and etc., good I am explaining this because the major league baseball don't give always balls to all countries and in the case of Ecuador the federation don't have the money for buy 28.9 balls per game but that okay because in other leagues or countries this thing don't care for example in Venezuela they don't have money to buy this quantity of balls but the level of baseball in this country is too much, this country have 68 players in big leagues and the economy of this countries don't affect in the progress of this sport.

The first thing that comes to our mind when people say MLB is a league of one of most beautiful sport but the reality MLB is one of the most expensive business in the world this people manage to much money, the highest salary in this sport is mike trout that his salary is 426.5 millions of dollars for 12 years, this is salary is crazy because if you thing with this money Venezuela can remake his countries and this quantity of money Ecuador don't have for all the sports.

In baseball one of the most important and more grateful things is hit a home run and in the economy this also affect because the bets for who make the home run are incredible the people bets for this who make more home runs, who make the first, etc. The home run it's a long hit by the player that goes over the fence and brings to much happy for the team that make it, the hitter run over the four bases and comes to the home plate in this place start all (Maridueña, 2009) .

The home run can make a one man rich and the other poor.

The bet in the world of baseball are very important and always in the economy of the countries how many player have in the MLB are important to because if you have more MLB players you will be rated better and the scouts going to pay more attention to your players and going to give you money for make a camp of baseball for the prospects. This way is easier and cheaper than when don't have any help of MLB. The conclusion is the economy is important to play baseball but the money it is not all if you don't have money you can make a good team. (1218)

Chapter II

Baseball at countries of second world

2.1 In what affect the economy.

In baseball the economy affects in several things and for this in the present the money its important for too many things. For the developing of the abilities of the players you have to invest in them, the problem of this is in some countries take the baseball to the only escape and for this the kids are analphabetic. The big problem of the kids only was prepared for pay baseball

Is if they doesn't sing for any team, they couldn't find a good job because the only thing that they have is the practice of baseball, the majority of this kids doesn't have a good education too much of them aren't going to study.

The biggest problem of the baseball in this moment are the liars the people who put in our bodies or in our kids' bodies prohibited substances for improve. This normally happened in some countries, Ecuador don't have cases of kid with prohibit substances in their bodies.

The economy also affect in what people come to play, for example in Ecuador the teams sings players of other countries, but normally this players are not too good for be a major league player for this reason come to Ecuador but some of this players are to good for Ecuador but not to good for the major league. One of these players is Francisco Sanchez "In this country the most remarkable thing is the feats of Francisco (Panchon) Sanchez is one of the most famous players of all time in Ecuador" (Maridueña, 2009, p. 10). In Ecuador in the actuality the Venezuelan people come to search a best live and the majority of them play baseball and for the teams of Ecuador are good because have more players for a minor cost.

2.1.1 Countries of the third world on big leagues.

In the MLB most players are from United States, the 71.54 percent of players are form USA in this 2019. In Latin America the country that have more big leaguers is Dominican Republic. In third world countries to become a big leaguer is a little more difficult than for one American because in United Sates of America if you go to a college you can play baseball in a high level and you have a probability of be sign for one club, in too much college you have a probability of be sing for one team and in the majority of college plays baseball but for example in Ecuador if you go to a university only one university in Ecuador play baseball and don't play in a high level.

Like Maridueña (2009) in their book the history of home run write:

The irregularity must also have been taken care of and the different types of tournament that doesn't allow to size the true level of the players ... In sometimes the tournament were cancelled for different causes and the players don't have the opportunity to get better. (p.12)

In one world countries this thing doesn't happen but in the third world countries pass too much times some tournament be cancelled because don't have enough money to pay all the requirement for example the balls, the salary of the umpires, the field, etc. For this other country like Brazil have more baseball players in MLB than us because they really take seriously the baseball, they really put money for the tournaments, for the progress of the kids, for campus that all the kids can train and be better.

2.1.1.1 Recruitment of players.

The recruitment of players for the major leagues is easy if they see some that they like in you, you are done but the thing that id really difficult is stay there because all the years the teams recruit too much payers that have the same ambitions, your same talent, etc. but the thing that too don't have to they have more is the determination. In some countries like Ecuador is more difficult be recruit for a club because they think that in Ecuador don't exist talent.

2.1.1.1.1 Follow up towards the players.

The follow up towards the player is too important because you can see if the player is in evolution or stay in their level in Ecuador this thing don't exist for this the Ecuador don't have MLB players. This permit to the scouts see in what is failing the player and can help us to success the failing, in big leagues the follow up is used for the majority of teams they follow up their players and their prospect also they follow up they future prospect to sing us.

2.1.1.1.2 The majority of Americans players.

This for obviously reasons are truth one of them are they take seriously the baseball and they really put money for the progress of their kids and not for only win money of them, for the Americans plays baseball is for passion because they have a lot of others jobs in their country and hey can stay there with out any problem but for example the Venezuelan they see the baseball for escape and for win money and in this point is when the liars come, when the lie start obviously not all the people do that but in this country is normally to do this. For me the majority of American players in big leagues it will never end.

2.1.1.2 Ecuadorian players signed by a team.

In Ecuadorian baseball not all the players sing but we have some players that thy sing for a MLB team , they sing for a team but they never play in Big leagues, We don't have a Big league player enough the player of Ecuador that was more close is Alfredo Venegas. But there is an Ecuadorian who was very close, in 2008, Alfredo Venegas was in Tacoma AAA branch of the Seattle Mariners, the prelude to the big team, one more step and it would have arrived. (La Cabina, 2015) but Venegas isn't the only who was in a big leagues team for example Alfredo Molina, Daniel Duran, etc. The only way that the baseball of Ecuador get better is take seriously and invest in the future. (1040)

Chapter III

The beautiful and in what can help you?

3.1 The beautiful sport and the helps things.

Keiichi Arawi said: "You never know what's going to happen ... And that's fun! That's what baseball is about! ". The baseball is an amazing sport for too much people is the most beautiful sport that the man can create, but if you don't understand the sport for you the baseball can be so boring because is a sport with too many rules that can don't have sense for you but this rules make the baseball an unique sport with this I start the chapter III.

The baseball is an amazing sport, much people say this but for what the reality is the baseball can help you in all ways because if you have personals problems if you play baseball you can forget this problems for some time, go to see baseball an hour and you will forget your problems, go to see baseball more than 2 hour and you will forget everything.(Nick Leyva) but this is not the only thing that the baseball can brings you, can bring you health for your body and for you mind.

The economy problems are nothing when you play baseball exist to many works not only be a player if you like the baseball but you don't have the talent or you are too old the baseball brings you more things to do like be a coach or a batboy. But the most playful work on baseball is when you are a good player and if you play in the big leagues you would to win too much money for maintain all your family and to help a person that have a bad moment, this to many players do when they win their first contract they help all the persons that helps her when he was nothing.

The only problem that you have if you are a big leaguer is the fame and the false friends because when you have money the bad friends or the false friends, the money in the baseball is abundant for all the teams have too much money for pay all their players. The baseball is one of the most pay sport in the world in USA is the second most viewed sport after the NFL and for this the money that the leaders put for the team.

Normally the biggest contract of the baseball are up to the $100,000,000 and this is incredible, if you think third players win millions only for do who they like for to many players the baseball is the only thing that they know to do, some players are analphabetic and didn't know how to speak in English and for this the only way to win money is play baseball.

The MLB see this problem and makes programs who study and practice have the same important because the player who their careers end don't have nothing more to do for their life the university in USA have a good programs for the baseball player have good sales for study and if you don't have money the majority of university in USA are free and have the option of play baseball, the only bad thing is that the university is not the best you will have less options to be drafted.

When you are in one university the way to big leagues is in the draft and the teams have a war or a battle for the best players of all universities in United States, in this battle the teams put too many people for sign the players who they want, is difficult to understand the way to select in what place of the draft you are if you are in the first places the teams have to play more for sign you, not all the players who drafted first ends in all star player.

The teams are very preoccupied for the draft because the team battle to sign the best prospect because if the players are youth is easier that his career make fruit, the baseball is love for too much people.

Like Barry Loma (2019) said:

I do what I have trained all my life to do. I look at the ball, I keep my eye on the ball, I never stop looking, I look all him as he passes by my side and lands in the receiver's glove, a third strike.

3.2 The starts of the players

The media age for the players start to play or to practice baseball for money (to be professional) is 13 when you have this age you start to think more in your future and you have to decide if you take a baseball for hobbies or for your future but all is possible and normally you have a second chance if your selection is bad your always have a chance of change it, the reality is the baseball is a dream of to many people.

The dreams of your fathers don't have to affect your decision because if you don't like the baseball you can decide if you don't want to be a professional player, the life of a professional player is to difficult you have to train to many hours per day and not all people are prepared for do this, the best feeling in the baseball or in the life is reach your dreams and the dream of all baseball player is play in Major league for one team but not all the players can reach that.

The starts of a career could be amazing with out problems but when the time pass the problems are coming, the biggest problem in baseball are the injuries, for a baseball player the injuries are a terrible nightmare with one of this the career of the baseball player could finish but if you battle to play again after a big injurie you can recovery and do a very good performance, for reach all your dreams you have to battle for their and I finish with this quote nothing is impossible.(1015)

Conclusions

The conclusion of this monography is:

- First conclusion is off the chapter one THE GLOBAL BASEBALL the global baseball is in progress in many countries .This sport is starting to be big because with more people start to understand the baseball this sport could be the most viewed sport because for some people this sport is the most amazing of the world my conclusion of the chapter one is the baseball in the world is in progress and I think in some years this sport could be the most viewed sport in the world because the money that the teams invests for make more funny and more competitive this game and the people that investigate more of this beautiful sport going to love it.
- Chapter two baseball in second world countries my conclusion of this chapter is in the second world countries exist less opportunities than in the other countries like United States of America and for this exist more big leaguers Americans that the other countries but the people in this countries take the baseball like the only option do hey have to giving up my conclusion of that is the second world countries have to be more appreciated for the major league and they have to put more attention on this countries they could find some good players.
- Chapter three my conclusion of this chapter is easy, is if you search an opportunity of baseball to safe us the baseball can help you in too much aspects like economic, social, problems of feeling, etc. My other conclusion of this chapter is the baseball is the best sport in the world and is so beautiful.
- My final conclusion is when you start to learn more off this sport you could love it really you only need to understood an 40 percent of all game and you going to love it you can view the baseball of to many aspect the aspect that I select to this monography is the economy but in some times I start to write that the baseball is amazing is not my fault it's a thing that I can't controlled because I am in love with the baseball for this reason I start this monography for this reason I select this topics and for do this monography more intellectual I choose the aspect of the economic.

- My conclusion is this sport is amazing and if you give one opportunity for believe in this you going to stay in love for all your life with this sport and if you want investigate you can find too much information for all the aspects of beautiful game, the only thing that I wish for you is that you enjoy the game like me and like to much people that thinks like me and for this I believe that you cant give only one opportunity to this sport the conclusion is the most beautiful game in the world is the baseball and you going to enjoyed I promised you.(500)

Recommendations

- My recommendation for the people in the Ecuador is if they believe that the baseball could be a great or big sport for our culture they have to start to work and pay more attention in who they spend their money because in some times the federation spend money in somethings that really don't help the progress of baseball in the country and my recommendation for the other planet is if you want to be a professional player you never give up that the country do to you born never is an obstacle for been a great player and for the other people I wish that with this monography you learn something new of these sport and of the economy the final recommendation is you have to investigate more of the baseball its possible that you start to love it.
- For all the people other recommendation is that if you have a son you have to do a baseball player not for only the passion its an other aspects that the kid can make a lot of money if he become a big leaguer, and my recommendation for Venezuela is don't give up you can do it to the Venezuelan players of baseball don't give up you have a great potential to explode and the baseball can make your life better in all aspects you only have to play baseball and to start in have a big dreams.(238)
